FIFTH WEEK OF TERM STARTED

Frank Windate Proved Residence
Here and Habeas Corpus Proceedings Were Dismissed.

TRIED TO TAKE HIM TO OHIO

Grand Jury in Session Today For the First Time and Started Work of Examining Witnesses.

The fifth week of the February term of court started this morning. So far forty-eight cases have been disposed of by Judge Megee. The May term of court will not open until the first Monday in May, but Judge Megee has little hope of holding the present term until the last week in April and will probably adjourn the second week in April.

The habeas corpus proceedings against Frank Windate were finally disposed of this morning. It was shown to the court that he is a resident of Indiana and had been since September 15, 1911. The requisition for his return to Camden, Ohio, was issued by Governor Ralston. It was alleged that he owed a judgment in the Ohio court and his return was asked so that it might be collected. It was shown Judge Megee that the judgment was paid up until two months after he was a citizen of Indiana.

The habeas corpus proceedings were brought by Windate against the sheriff of Rush county. It was shown that the case against him in Ohio had been dismissed and the judgment here was given in favor of Windate. Mr. Windate will engage in the manufacture of axle grease and horse muzzles here. He is a brother-in-law of Dr. J. T. Paxton. Will M. Sparks represented Mr. Windate. John H. Kiplinger appeared for the sheriff and the state was represented by Donald Smith.

The Rush County National bank was given judgment for $308.82 on a claim against Frank A. Schrichte, administrator of the estate of J. B. Schrichte, deceased. The claim was $250 and with interest and attorney fees, the total amounted to $308.82.

The grand jury met this morning for the first time. A number of witnesses were examined today. One of the cases taken up was that of larceny against Fred Bennett. Bennett was charged in an affidavit in police court with stealing chickens from William Cook. The case was appealed to the circuit court. The main witness against Bennett was Max Goldstein. His presence this morning before the grand jury led to the belief that this was the case under consideration.

Frank Keeley is acting as bailiff for the grand jury this session. Prosecutor Smith is acting with the grand jury.

LOCAL DEGREE STAFF WORK

Bernice Encampment Team Gives Exhibition at Liberty Saturday.

The degree staff of Bernice encampment No. 12, I. O. O. F., of this city, went to Liberty Saturday afternoon where the members of the staff conferred the three encampment degrees on a class of ten candidates for Gardner encampment of that city. Supper was served at six o'clock and lunch at 10:30, after which the last degree was given. The Liberty Odd Fellows pronounced the work the best they had ever seen and were very much pleased with it.

SEVEN CARS JUMP TRACK

Traffic is Delayed Several Hours by Small Wreck.

A tender and seven freight cars of No. 95 southbound freight were derailed yesterday morning between the Big Four station and the bridge over Flatrock. The breaking of a frog pass caused the wreck. Traffic was delayed several hours and it was about noon when the cars and engine tender were placed back on the track. The track was torn up for quite a distance. Train No. 1, southbound, due here at 8:30 a. m., did not get out until 11:50 a. m.

CONTRACT TO BE LET ON MARCH 10

Masonic Building Committee Today
Announces Estimates Will Be Received Until Then.

DATE ORIGINALLY MARCH 4th.

The contract for the new Masonic Temple building, which will be erected in Main street on the site of the old one, which was destroyed by fire last summer, will be awarded Tuesday March 10th, at two o'clock in the afternoon. The letting will take place in the office of Dr. F. G. Hackenlan, who is a member of the committee having charge of the work. The other two members of the committee are Earl H. Payne and A. L. Stewart.

It was originally intended to award the contract Wednesday, March 4th, but the committee found it could not get ready by that time. The plans were drawn by Herbert Foltz, architect of Indianapolis, and have been complete for some time.

JOE DICKMAN IS NEW CUSTODIAN

Gets Appointment From Commissioners When Crull Finds he Can Not Take Position.

USUAL CLAIMS ARE ALLOWED

The county commissioners were in session today and allowed the usual claims. Viewers were to have been appointed for the John G. Beale road, but this was delayed. The bonds of the road superintendents appointed by J. C. King were to have been approved, but none of the men appeared before the commissioners.

Joseph Dickman was appointed custodian of the court house in the place of Crull, who could not serve. Crull was first appointed by the commissioners and later found that it would be impossible for him to take the position. Mr. Dickman will take up his duties May 1. He first intends to clean the court house from the basement to the clock and in this will have an assistant. This work of cleaning up is expected to take one month. Mr. Dickman is a well known Democrat and is engaged in the upholstering business.

ASSESSORS GO TO WORK TODAY

Final Instructions From State Board
Seek to do Away With Inequalities in Taxation.

MANY ARTICLES SPECIFIED

Notes and Mortgages Will be Taken at Three-Fourth Their Value.—
Assessing of Stock.

The assessors began their annual task today. Although the assessors held no conference with the county assessor, John F. Moses, they have been informed as to changes which are in effect this year. They all had procured their supplies today.

The state board of tax commissioners has sent out a letter for the information of assessors calling attention to the fact that last year there were numerous inequalities in personal property assessment.

This year the state board requests the assessors to pay particular attention to their work so that all property will be assessed as equitably as possible. The same plan of assessment used last year will be in vogue this year, that is, to assess all personal property at its "true cash value" and then deduct a fourth for purpose of equalization.

The state board has decreed this year the widow who has a washing machine and who washes for a living shall be taxed on her machine. Naturally, the state board has not made this statement in so bold a manner as it is made here, but it has made some changes in the schedule of personal property, to be filled out each time an assessment is made, and among other things it has listed washing machines as something that must be listed for taxation.

Wind mills are taken off the schedule and will not be assessed this year. Fan mills are a new item on the schedule, as is also baled straw. Heretofore horses were assessed for what they were worth irrespective of age, and many a horse owner sought to escape taxation because he had horses that were less than a year old. Now the sheet has blanks for horses less than one year of age and of one year or older.

Horses and mules are to be assessed at their true cash value instead of being assessed at a fixed standard. All other personal property is to be assessed at what the assessor thinks it was worth on the first of March. No special attention was paid to automobiles here, but the assessors are given general instructions to assess autos for what they are worth.

Notes and mortgages will be taken for three-fourths of their face value. Goods and merchandise, merchandise held on consignment, manufactured articles on hands and manufacturing tools implements and machinery, other than engines and boilers, will be taken at the same ratio.

The schedule also states how certain articles shall be assessed. Chickens will be taken at $3 per dozen and turkeys at $6 per dozen. Bricks, stone and other building material will be assessed at $3 per thousand feet, cement at $1 per barrel, cash registers at seventy-five per cent. of the full value, pianos at

DID MARCH LION SEE HIS SHADOW?

There is No Tradition Attached, But There is No One to Deny the Lion Was Here.

PROBABLY HE DEVOURED LAMB

But March, Which Forecasters Say
Will be One Storm After Another,
Has Bright Day Occasionally

The March lion must have seen his shadow. There is no tradition attached to that, but no one today was willing to admit that there was not a March lion abroad yesterday. There may have been a lamb for the month to ride out on, but prospects are that the lion devoured it.

Prophet Hicks said March would be a regular terror, and no one was doubting his ability to predict today. If all March be like the sample, it would be well were the day of April fools at hand, for a gale that made the one of a week ago Sunday look like a stage affair, blew all day Sunday and Sunday night with enough force to crush window panes.

And there was some decline on the part of the mercury, too. A temperature of only ten degrees above zero was recorded yesterday morning and today at 7 a. m. the same temperature prevailed. The mercury showed little disposition to get up yesterday and the maximum temperature was eighteen degrees. This came on the heels of a day like Saturday when the mercury rose to seventy-three degrees in the sun.

But the cold spell is not for long. The weather bureau officials bring very encouraging news today. They say rising temperature is in order for tonight and that still warmer weather will be on the job tomorrow. But a discordant note is sounded. Tomorrow will be "unsettled."

According to Parson Hicks, March will be just one storm after another. A "reactionary" storm is to center, he says, on the fourth, fifth and sixth. Then one of those "regular" storms will be along about the ninth. A wicked equinoctial storm is scheduled for the 11th, 12th and 13th. And so March will pass, according to the parson.

Wind mills are taken off the schedule and will not be assessed this year. Fan mills are a new item on the schedule, as is also baled straw. Heretofore horses were assessed for what they were worth irrespective of age, and many a horse owner sought to escape taxation because he had horses that were less than a year old. TO BE ON THE JOB AT ALL SEASONS

Will H. Hays, New State Chairman,
Announce Definite Policy For New Republican Committee.

HEADQUARTERS OPEN NOW

Indiana Leader Invites Co-operation of all Republicans in Pushing the Fight.

In a letter sent out over Indiana to Republican workers, Will H. Hays, the new chairman of the state central committee, has announced a definite purpose and outlined a policy which he expects to follow. Mr. Hays says he plans to have Republican state headquarters in Indianapolis open and the work of Republican organization and Republican publicity go forward without a break during the entire term of the new committee.

"You will realize," he continues, "the importance of this and the far-reaching effect such an undertaking will have. This is to be no spasmodic effort we are making, but a large, determined, vigorous movement, in season and out of season, for the renewed success of the Republican Party—all that no harm may come to the Republic."

"I want all the Republicans to know that for two solid years their work will be going on, and I want them to know that they will be expected to visit the headquarters, not only during the coming campaign but every time they are in Indianapolis for the next two years."

ALMOST SET RECORD.

For a short month, February was almost a record breaker in the clerk's office. During the month twenty-one marriage licenses were issued. In January only eight licenses were issued and in December the total reached twenty-eight. Last year during the month of February fourteen licenses were issued.

Meeting the Manufacturer Half Way

When the manufacturer of a well known branded article comes into the newspapers of this town with his advertisements, meet him half way, Mr. Dealer.

Show him that you appreciate the fact that he is making a market at your doorstep rather than at the doorstep of some other fellow in another town.

The manufacturer's advertising is going to create in the minds of people a desire to see the goods.

They will want to know more about them. Through co-operating with the manufacturer by showing the goods and letting the public know you have them, you are bringing trade into your own store.

At the same time you are meeting the manufacturer half way—you are showing him that you are alert to a good thing.

When that manufacturer has any extra favors to distribute he is pretty sure to come your way.

DAY NECESSARY TO GET BROWN JURY

George W. Brown Goes on Trial Today For Slaying Constable
Albert Hawkins.

SOME "BLIND TIGER" TROUBLE

(By United Press.)
Anderson, Ind., Mar. 2.—Talismen called in the trial of George W. Brown, charged with slaying Albert Hawkins, constable of Anderson, were rapidly excused by the state today when they admitted having heard much of the case through the newspapers. It was believed, however, the jury would be completed before court adjourned.

The murder was the result of "blind tiger" trouble at Ingalls, Madison county, where the killing occurred.

SOME SOILS NOT GOOD FOR ROADS

Expert of Department of Agriculture
Says They Differ Same as For Agricultural Purposes.

TIME TO WORK BIG FACTOR

Mistake to Put it off Until Late Summer When Surface is Baked Dry and Hard.

(Special to the Daily Republican)

Washington, Mar. 2—As soils differ for agricultural purposes, so they differ for roads, says the roads expert of the Department of Agriculture. Clay or soils of fine texture unusually make poor roads, especially if they contain much vegetable matter. The coarser soils, however, which contain some sand or gravel, will often make very satisfactory roads for light traffic provided they are kept in proper repair.

If the road is composed of fine clay or soil, it will sometimes pay to resurface it with top soil from an adjacent field which has sand or gravel mixed in it. This method, called the top-soil method, is now in successful use in Virginia, North Carolina, and Georgia, and probably other states.

The earth road can best be crowned and ditched with a road machine, and not with picks and shovels, scoops, and plows. One road machine, with a suitable power and operator, will do the work of many men with picks and shovels, and do it better.

The road machine should be used when the soil is damp, so as to make the soil bake when it dries out. If it is worked dry, it takes more power to draw the machine, and, besides, dry earth and dust retain moisture and quickly rut after rains. The use of clods, sods, weeds or vegetable matter in building earth roads should be avoided because they also retain moisture.

It is a great mistake to put the working of the earth off until August or September. The surface is then baked dry and hard. It is not only difficult to work but it is unsatisfactory work when done. Earth which is loose and dry will remain dusty as long as the dry weather lasts and then turn to mud as soon as the rains begin. By using the road machine in the spring of the year while the soil is soft and damp, the surface is more easily shaped and soon packs down into a dry hard crust which is less liable to become rutted in summer or muddy in winter.

Storm water should be disposed of quickly before it has time to penetrate deeply into the surface. This can be done by giving the road a crown or slope from the center to the sides. For an earth road which is 24 feet wide the center should be not less than 6 inches or more than 12 inches higher than the outer edges of the shoulders. A narrow road which is too high in the middle will become rutted almost as quickly as one which is too flat for the reason that on a narrow road all the traffic is forced to use only a narrow strip.

Shoulders are often formed on both sides of the road which prevent storm water from flowing into side ditches, retaining it in the ruts and softening the roadway. These ruts and shoulders can be entirely eliminated with the road machine or split-log drag.

Ordinary, the only ditches needed are those made with the road machine, which are wide and shallow. Deep, narrow ditches wash rapidly, especially on steep slopes, which is another good reason for decreasing the steepness of the grades. It is difficult to maintain an earth road, or any kind of road for that matter, on a steep grade.

The width of the earth road will depend on the traffic. As a rule, 25 or 30 feet from ditch to ditch is sufficient, if the road is properly crowned. A road that is narrower than 25 feet is difficult to maintain for the above stated reason that on narrow roads the teams are more apt to track than on a wider road causing it to rut if subjected to heavy hauling.

The road should not be loosened, dug or plowed up any more than is absolutely necessary. The road should be gradually raised, not lowered; hardened, not softened.

On flat lands, where water moves slowly, grading material should be taken from the low ditch and culverts supplied where waterways occur. A shallow ditch on the upper side makes it possible to give culverts a good fall. Two or more small pipes, instead of one large one of equal capacity, may be used for culverts, especially if the large pipe necessitates much grading or raising of the roadway. At least 6 inches should be left between each pipe and earth should be stamped around them thoroughly so as to prevent a washout.

To prevent washings on steep roads, the water should be carried under the surface at frequent intervals from the upper to the lower side and from the lower side away from the road. Five 12-inch pipes in a mile of roadway is about as cheap and far better than one 24-inch pipe. The water must be disposed of before it gains force or headway, or has time to damage the road.

The maximum velocity for a 24-inch vitrified tile flowing full without head on a grade of 2 inches per hundred feet is 3.6 feet per second, or about two and one fourth miles per hour. When the grade is increased to 36 inches in 100, the velocity becomes 20' per second or about 13 1/4 miles per hour. The discharge for the 24 inch pipe in the first instance will be 5086 gallons per minute and for the steeper grade 28,260 gallons per minute. It will therefore be seen that a 24 inch pipe laid on a grade of 36 inches to the 100 will have over five times the capacity of the same size pipe laid on a grade of 1 inch to the 100'.

Under the same conditions the maximum velocity for a 12 inch tile on a grade of 1" per 100' equals 14' per second or about seven eighth miles per hour and for the same tile on a grade of 36 inches to the 100' the velocity would be 7 1/2' per second or about five and one sixth miles per hour. The discharge for the 12 inch tile in the first instance would be 442 and the steeper grade 2,650 gallons per minute or about five times as much.

By increasing the fall, we increase the capacity of the pipe, decrease the size of the pipe necessary, and therefore decrease the cost of the culverts. Furthermore, culverts laid flat will soon fill up, but if given a good fall, they will keep themselves clear.

If much fall is obtained in a culvert pipe, the spillway should be paved. Earth should be tamped under and around the pipe in layers, and should be of sufficient depth to prevent the pipe from being broken by traffic; but under no circumstances should a ridge over the culvert be allowed, for it not only endangers the life of the culvert, but is a menace to traffic.

At attempt to drain mud holes with culvert pipe will fail in most cases. The water should be drained off by means of open ditches; the soft mud thrown out and replaced with just enough good firm earth to make it level (after consolidation) with the surrounding surface. If mud holes in earth roads are filled with brush or stone, it will usually result in two mud holes, one at each end.

Repairs to roads should be made when needed, and not once a year after crops are "laid by." One day's labor, judiciously distributed throughout the year, will accomplish more and better work in the maintenance of an earth road than the same amount of labor expended in six days, especially if the six days are in August, September, or October, when the ground is hard and dry.

Because of its simplicity, its efficiency and cheapness, the split-log drag or some similar device is destined to come into more and more general use. With the drag properly built and its use well understood, the maintenance of earth and gravel roads becomes a simple and inexpensive matter. Care should be taken to make the log so light that one man can lift it with ease, as a light drag can be drawn by two medium sized horses and responds more readily to various methods of hitching and shifting positions of the operator than a heavier one.

EARL OF MINTO

Eminent British Administrator
Comes to End of Busy Career.

London, March 3.—The Earl of Minto, former governor general of Canada and former viceroy of India, is dead.

HAYWOOD ACCUSED OF EXAGGERATING THINGS

Philanthropists In New York Denounce I. W. W.

New York, March 2.—Big Bill Haywood's organization, the I. W. W., is deliberately and systematically exaggerating the plight of the unemployed, organizing bands of professional beggars and bums for street demonstrations and viciously misrepresenting the attitude and efforts of Mayor Mitchel, Charities Commissioner Kingsbury and philanthropic individuals or organizations that are striving to assist the needy or homeless.

The I. W. W., for the sole purpose of discrediting city officials and labor officials and stirring up ill feeling, is magnifying the number of unemployed in this city and is distorting real conditions.

These charges are made by Commissioner Kingsbury, Herman Robinson of the executive committee of the State Federation of Labor; Daniel Harris, president of the state federation; Walter Owens, assistant superintendent of the municipal lodging house; Alexander R. Golden of the Brotherhood Welfare association; Dr. J. C. Day of the Labor Temple, and others whose efforts to mitigate the condition of the deserving unemployed are constantly opposed and ridiculed by the Haywood organization.

Their investigations have proved that a large part of the following of Frank Tannenbaum and other I. W. W. agitators—the following that Tannenbaum plans to lead to the churches of Fifth avenue when it grows to 5,000 or more, he says—is composed of men who would refuse to work under the most favorable conditions and who have been told by I. W. W. agitators that they can get money without labor if they will adopt the I. W. W. methods of noisy demonstrations and of accusing all employers and officials of oppression and callousness.

Let the Past Rest.

What we shall call the opposition has been attempting to make political capital out of the fact that the officers of the present city administration are carrying out their promises which they made when they took the oath of office. And it seems that they made a very good start.

The opposition can best cover up its own misdeeds by keeping quiet. It is not well that the people of Rushville be asked to hark back to the last administration; rather they should blot the dark past from their memory. We are in a new area.

We have seen some "pointing with pride"—the nerve of it—to the last administration because an alleged "blind tiger" out in West Seventh street was "raided," yes, actually "raided." The sightless pig was conducted by a man who was unable to make a living because of ill health and was forced to the nefarious business. This was the only successful raid of the officers of the last administration, in power four years. And that case is now gently reposing undisturbed in the circuit court.

The present administration had not been in power two months when two convictions had been obtained for law violations. The people elected the present officials on the promise that they would enforce the law. A Democratic majority of four years ago turned to the present administration in the last election for the reason that the candidates declared they would keep faith with the people of Rushville.

The past is best buried. Let it rest.

J. J. Thorpe, organizer for the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, is angry because the state public service commission did not return an opinion according to his ideas on certain grievances presented to the commission. The employers, and the employees who felt they had a grievance, agreed on the commission as a board of arbitration, its decision to be final. Mr. Thorpe is like many small gentlemen who always make the rules and abide by them so long as they win, but when the tide turns want to change them.

Under the leadership of that vigorous young man, Will H. Hays, the Republican party in Indiana enters a new area. The new state chairman has announced that the headquarters in Indianapolis will be open all the time the next two years and that Republicans should call in whenever

SUDDEN CHECK IN BENTON CASE

Expedition to Chihuahua to View

Body of Dead British Subject

Unexpectedly Recalled.

GEN. CARRANZA TAKES A HAND

Denies That Gen. Villa Has Any
Right to Treat With Secretary
Bryan Over the Controversy.

[Special to the Daily Republican.]

El Paso, Tex., March 2.—The trip of the Benton investigating committee to Chihuahua was suddenly postponed or abandoned just as the commissioners were about to take the train. Those concerned said that any explanation must come from the state department.

The commissioners, with their luggage, were at the train in Juarez when Zach Cobb, collector of customs at El Paso, informed them that they were not to go.

"It is possible that you may go later," he told them.

The commissioners are Charles A. C. Perceval, British consul at Galveston, and James Hambleton, a British subject long resident in Mexico; R. E. Thomas, a lawyer of El Paso, who has made a special study of international and Mexican law; Dr. B. M. Worsham of El Paso, and Majors W. Davidson and C. J. Manley of the United States army.

It was learned that Cobb acted on instructions from Washington. At Fort Bliss General Hugh L. Scott, who appointed Davidson and Manley to assist in the examination of Benton's body, said that he had no information. None of the commissioners would talk about the delay.

Major Davidson said that the subject was one which he could not discuss. Percival declined to be seen. Refugees are deeply interested in the situation. Several refugees said they thought Carranza is attempting to use the Benton negotiations as lever to obtain recognition of the rebel government.

CARRANZA ON HIS DIGNITY

Head of Revolution Upsets Bryan's Plan in Benton Case.

Washington, March 2.—General Carranza has thrown another monkey wrench into the machinery of the Wilson Mexican program. The rebel chieftain upset the plans of Secretary Bryan for the long deferred expedition of American and British commissioners to Chihuahua, where Villa says the body of Benton may be examined for evidence as to how the British rancher met his death.

Objections on the part of Carranza to the plan arranged with Villa, his supposed second in command, for the American expedition caused Secretary Bryan to cancel the trip just as the commissioners were assembling at the Juarez railroad station to go to Chihuahua. The state department is now retracing its steps and endeavoring to obtain Carranza's consent for the commission to depart.

Carranza's objection is that he is the chief of the revolution and that arrangements for such an expedition as Mr. Bryan plans must be made through him. This objection follows up an earlier note received at the state department in which Carranza declared his dignity as "chief of the revolution" compelled him to refuse to recognize the right of the United States to act as the agent of England in looking after the interests of England in the Benton case.

To say that the administration is disgusted with the new turn in events is putting it mildly. That Carranza will answer to the latest representations of the United States by reiterating what he said in his note, that he will deal only with England and not with the United States, is expected here.

The result will be, it is said, that the expedition to get Benton's body will be subjected to delay, if not to total abandonment.

Imprisoned Bankers Sued.

Pittsburg, March 2.—The Farmers Deposit National bank of Pittsburg has entered suit against Henry Reiber and John Young for $1,105,000, embezzled from the bank in 1908. Reiber was a paying teller and Young the auditor of the institution. They are now serving penitentiary terms for the embezzlement.

George Free of Nasty Charge.

New York, March 2.—William R. George, founder of the George Junior Republic at Freeville, has been acquitted of the charge that his conduct with young girls at the institution was immoral.

Prison For Robbing Saloon.

Brookville, Ind., March 2.—Wade Ernest was found guilty by a jury and was sentenced to the state prison for from one to eight years for robbing the saloon of Frank Moninger of this place.

$50 and up and sewing machines at $2 and upward. Horses, mules and cattle will be assessed at seventy-five per cent. of their value. Cattle three years and over that are fat and in good condition will be taken at five cents per pound. Stock cattle will be taken at four cents per pound and sheep at $1 per head and upward.

The schedule shows that hogs will be assessed at six cents per pound and bees at $1 per stand. Wood will be taken at 75 cents and $1 per cord, and coal at $2 per ton and upward. Other schedules are: wheat, 70 cents per bushel; corn, 40 cents per bushel; oats, 30 cents per bushel; potatoes, 50 cents per bushel; grass and clover seed, $1.50 per ton; beans, 10 cents per pound; cowpeas, $1.60 per bushel; hay, $10 per ton; straw, $3 per ton; bacon, ten cents per pound; lard, 10 cents per pound; cornhush and maple molasses, 40 cents per gallon; lumber and building material $1 and upward; silage $5 per ton; scales, $5 and upward; ice $2 per ton.

Mother Withdraws Her Suit.

Evansville, Ind., March 2.—Mrs. Fannie Gordon, colored, has withdrawn her $9,000 suit against Allen VonBehren, son of a wealthy manufacturer, for the death of her son Thomas, one of three negroes killed here by young VonBehren, who is now serving a term for manslaughter in the Jeffersonville reformatory.

Saloon Keeper Beaten to Death.

Crown Point, Ind., March 2.—John Mitsch, proprietor of a saloon and restaurant at Cedar Lake, near here, is dead of wounds suffered when he was beaten, the police say, by men whom he had refused liquor. Three men are in the county jail here awaiting the action of the coroner.

Caught in a New Engine.

Greensburg, Ind., March 2.—Dolph Bennett, forty years old, was killed when he attempted to start a new gasoline engine in his feed mill at Adams, near here. Bennett was caught in the big wheel and thrown against the wall of the building, death following within a few minutes.

Got Hold of Wrong Bottle.

Washington, Ind., March 2.—Miss Kate Dennis, sixteen years old, is in a critical condition, having taken a dose of medicine prepared for a cow instead of from a bottle prepared for herself by a physician.

Sent Wife Beater to Jail.

Marion, Ind., March 2.—William Nonemaker, twenty-five years old, was fined $25 and sentenced to serve thirty days in jail by Mayor Batchelor on a charge of wife beating.

Schooner Wrecked on Rocks.

Providence, R. I., March 2.—The four-masted schooner Jacob S. Winslow was wrecked on Black Rocks, off the southeastern shore of Block Island early Sunday morning. The crew of nine men was safely brought ashore in the boat of the Block Island life-saving crew. The Winslow was owned in Portland and was of 910 gross tonnage.

Righted Himself in Time.

Santa Barbara, Cal., March 2.—While looping the loop here Sunday Lincoln Beachey lost control of his biplane and fell 1,600 feet, but managed to right himself 400 feet from the ground. He escaped with slight injuries. His machine crashed into a tree, but was not much injured.

Students Held Blameless.

Mt. Vernon, Ia., March 2.—Four Cornell college students were relieved by the coroner's jury here of all blame for the death of Howard Manning. A bullet fired by one of the students to frighten Manning, who had been caught peeping into the windows of the girls' dormitory, killed him.

Swept Over Precipice.

Chable, Switzerland, March 2.—Three Swiss Alpine climbers were killed Sunday while ascending the Rosa Blanche peak. The men, roped together, had attained a height of 5,000 feet when an avalanche swept them over a precipice.

Obituary.

Sun Set and The Evening Star. Charles H. Foster was born Nov. 6, 1873. On the 28th of June 1896 he was united in marriage to Myrtle Hittle, daughter of Wm. Hittle to which union was born one son Donald now just budding into manhood and on the 6th of February, 1914, the death angel whispered "Come Unto Me and I Will Give Thee Rest."

At sometime in earlier life he became a member of the M. E. church and took for his life motto "Trust in God." He was a member of the K. of P. and the I. O. O. F. lodges. How brief the record. What lies between during the 40 years and 3 months he lived? Childhood with its larger trials and temptations its battles fought either victory or defeat ending the struggle, on to manhood where we find brave and true adopting for his motto the strongest, grandest most sublime words that could shape the course of mortal man. "Trust In God!" And that he could so trust and that he lived the love and fear of his "God." Who of us who knew him can doubt. Throughout the nine long years of suffering his cheerful resignation and heroic fortitude never left him but with an unfaltering trust he constantly read the Bible and at the last when the chill waters were creeping nearer and nearer in childlike faith. He leaned on the everlasting arms murmuring "Thy Will be Done." Beautiful life, beautiful death. "I saw new heaven and a new earth for the former things were passed away and there shall be no more pain." He leaves to mourn his loss, a wife and one son, Donald, a father, four brothers and other relatives besides a host of friends.

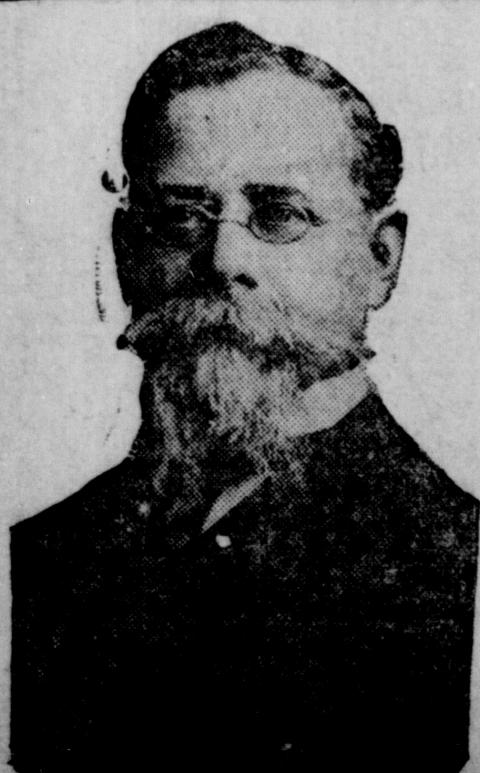

Card of Thanks.

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors for their sympathy and assistance in the death of our beloved husband and father Charles H. Foster and also for the K. of P. and I. O. O. F. lodges. Fred A. Caldwell undertaker for his prompt and faithful service and the many beautiful floral offerings.

EXAMINATIONS TO BE CONDUCTED HERE

Tests For Fourth-Class Postmaster
in Six Rush County Towns Set
For Saturday, April 18.

GLENWOOD IS AN EXCEPTION

Examinations for the postoffices at Arlington, Falmouth, Manilla, Mays, Milroy and New Salem will be held in Rushville April 18. This is according to an executive order issued by the president requiring competitive examinations by the commission for the position of postmaster at all fourth-class offices at which the annual compensation is more than $180 or more, and at which the present incumbent was not appointed under the civil service regulations.

The Glenwood office is also a fourth-class office but is not in this list because the examination was ordered by the civil service commission on account of a vacancy. The examination for the Glenwood office will be held in this city March 28, and will be the second examination for the place as no one qualified at the first.

The civil service commission also announces that male stenographers are in great demand. Examinations are held every month in Indianapolis and the salaries are $840 to $900.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

The senate has sent to conference the postoffice measure, carrying $311,492,067.

A thief dressed in postal uniform robbed a Paris mail van of $200,000 when the guard's back was turned.

Governor Ralston has been chosen as temporary chairman for the Indiana Democratic convention, March 19.

The accounts of John Kennedy, New York state treasurer, who killed himself, were found to be entirely correct.

The new law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the state of Tennessee is now in effect.

A fire in the business section of St. Louis resulted in the loss of one fireman's life and damage to property of almost $500,000.

Gifford Pinchot has announced his candidacy for the Progressive nomination for United States senator to succeed Boies Penrose.

In twenty-seven of the forty-five police precincts in Chicago, there are 28,231 men out of work, according to reports made by officers.

March came in like a lion most everywhere east of the Rockies, and the result was blizzards, snow, high winds, interrupted wire services and delayed trains.

The Tennessee supreme court held invalid the section of the recently enacted state liquor shipping law limiting interstate shipments to one gallon for personal or family use.

As a tribute to the work of Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama as Democratic leader in the house, President Wilson will give a dinner at the White House on March 9 for the majority leader.

Preliminary hearings on allegations that the United States Steel corporation has received illegal rebates from railroads during the last six years are being held by the Interstate commerce commission.

Former Grand Vizier of Turkey Is Reported Dead.

Constantinople, March 2.—Said Pasha, several times grand vizier of Turkey, is dead.

ALLEGED FIXING OF PRICES OF BUTTER

Elgin Board of Trade Is Under Investigation.

Chicago, March 2.—The prospective dissolution of the Elgin board of trade by government order or through voluntary action by the board of directors of the organization, was hinted when it became known that the present federal grand jury had listened to witnesses in relation to alleged fixing of butter prices.

The Elgin board of trade is the defendant in a dissolution suit brought by the government, and hearing in the case has been set for tomorrow before Judge Landis. The principal allegation is that through its quotation committee the board arbitrarily fixed the price of butter in violation of the federal law. Since the pendency of this suit the activity of the quotations committee has been eliminated.

The federal grand jury, it is understood, has directed its attention to the allegation that price fixing has still been effected through the medium of alleged wash sales or transactions fictitious in reality, but bearing the appearance of actual sales.

DEVELOPMENTS EXPECTED

Many Names Secured in Hunt For Goshen Gamblers.

Goshen, Ind., March 2.—Four detectives from a Chicago agency have spent much time here in investigating alleged wholesale gambling in poolrooms, cigar stores and private quarters. Developments are expected when the circuit court term opens. The detectives, it is said, have obtained the names of from 175 to 200 persons directly or indirectly involved. Several signed statements have been made.

"Lid" on at Bloomington.

Bloomington, Ind., March 2.—Following the local option election in Bloomington which resulted in a victory for the "drys," the officers of the city declared their intention of stamping out every "blind tiger" in the city and county and of clamping the lid down tighter than it has ever been before.

Turkish Government Sustained.

Constantinople, March 3.—In an election of parliamentary representatives for the city of Constantinople, held Sunday, all the government candidates were elected. A similar result was obtained throughout practically the entire empire.

Serious Quarrel Over Snowballs.

Jasonville, Ind., March 2.—Leotis Williams, seventeen years old, has been arrested, charged with stabbing Nick Barnes, fifteen years old, following a quarrel over a snowball game.

A bomb which it is claimed was placed in the church of St. John the Evangelist at Westminster by suffragettes, exploded, smashing two windows and wrecking a few seats in the church.

WOMAN'S BEAUTY
NO SECRET

It all lies in the care she bestows upon herself and in keeping at bay those dread ills peculiar to her sex. The flashing eye, the elastic step and the clear complexion never accompany organic troubles. The distressed expression, lassitude, headaches and mental depression are only the tell-tale symptoms. Women so troubled should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that simple remedy made from roots and herbs and restore their health to a normal condition.

CHAPTER XIII.

The Quest of the Hermit.

"I DON'T know how to begin," muttered the novelist, whose puppets' speeches had always been so apt. "Last night you sent me on a sort of quest for the golden fleece. I didn't know who had been fleeced or what the idea was. But I fared forth, as they say. I got it for you."

The eyes of the girl glowed happily. She was beaming.

"I'm so glad," she said. "But why didn't you give it to me last night? It would have meant so much if you had."

"That," replied Mr. Magee, "is what I'm coming to—very reluctantly. Did you note any spirit of caution in the fellow who set forth on your quest and dropped over the balcony rail? You did not. I waited on the porch and saw Max tap the safe. I saw him and Cargan come out. I waited for them. Just as I was about to jump on them—somebody—the man with the seventh key, I guess—did it for me. There was a scuffle. I joined it. I emerged with the package everybody seems so interested in."

"Yes," said the girl breathlessly. "And then—"

"I started to bring it to you," went on Magee, glancing over his shoulder at Max, "I was all aglow with romance and battle and all that sort of thing. I pictured the thrill of handing you the thing you had asked. I ran upstairs. At the head of the stairs—I saw her."

The light died in her eyes. Re-proach entered there.

"Yes," continued Magee, "your knight errant lost his nerve. He ceased to run on schedule. She, too, asked me for that package of money."

"And you gave it to her," said the girl scornfully.

"Oh, no," answered Magee quickly. "Not so bad as that. I simply sat down on the steps and thought. I got cautious. I decided to wait until to-day. I—I did wait."

He paused. The girl strode on, looking straight ahead.

"I know," he said, "what you think. I'm a fine specimen of a man to send on a hunt like that—a weak-minded mollycoddle who passes into a state of coma at the crucial moment. But—I'm going to give you that package yet."

The girl turned her head. Mr. Magee saw that her eyes were misty with tears.

"You're playing with me," she said brokenly. "I might have known. And I trusted you. You're in the game with the others—and I thought you weren't. I staked my whole chance of success on you. Now you're making sport of me. You never intended to give me that money. You don't intend to now."

"On my word," cried Magee, "I do intend to give it to you—the minute we get back to the inn! I have it safe in my room."

"Give it to her," said the girl bitterly. "Why don't you give it to her?"

Oh, the perversity of women!

"It's you I want to give it to," replied Magee warmly. "I don't know what was the matter with me last night. I was a fool. You don't believe in me, I know"— Her face was cold and expressionless.

And I wanted to believe in you—so much," she said.

"Why did you want to?" cried Magee. "Why?"

She plodded on through the snow.

"You must believe," he pleaded. "I don't know what all this is about—on my word of honor. But I want to give you that money, and I will—the minute we get back to the inn. Will you believe then? Will you?"

"I hate you," said the girl simply.

She should not have said that. As far back as he could remember such opposition had stirred Mr. Magee to wild deeds. He opened his mouth, and words flowed forth. What were the words?

"I love you! I love you! Ever since that moment in the station I have loved you! I love you!"

Faintly he heard himself saying it over and over. By the gods, he was proposing—inanely, in words of one syllable, as the butcher's boy might have told his love to the second kitchen maid.

"I love you," he continued. Idiot!

Often Mr. Magee had thought of the moment when he would tell his love to a woman. It was a moment of dim lights, music perhaps in the distance, two souls caught up in the magic of the moonlit night—a pretty graceful speech from him, a sweet gracious surrender from the girl. And this—instead.

"I love you." In heaven's name, was he never going to stop saying it? I want you to believe."

Good lord! He recalled that a fellow novelist, whose love scenes were regarded as models by young people suffering the tender passion, had once confessed that he proposed to his wife on a street car and was accepted just as the conductor handed him his transfers.

The girl deliberately stopped. There was never less of sweet gracious surrender in a suffragette hurling a stone through a shopkeeper's window. She eyed Mr. Magee pityingly, and they stood until Mr. Max caught up with them.

"So that's the hermit's shack," said Max, indicating the little wooden hut at which they had arrived. "A funny this is asking too much. I'm sorry, but I got to be true to my oath—I got to be a hermit."

"Maybe," sneered Mr. Max, "he's got good reason for being a hermit. Maybe he's brass buttons and blue uniforms mixed up in it."

"You come from the great world of revocation," answered the hermit. "Your talk is natural. It goes with the life you lead. But it isn't true."

"And Mr. Max is the last who should insinuate," rebuked Mr. Magee. "Why, only last night he denounced suspicion and bemoaned the fact that there is so much of it in the world."

"Well he might," replied the hermit. "Suspicion is the keynote of modern life, especially in New York." He drew the purple dressing gown closer about his plump form. "I remember the last time I was in the big town seeing a crowd of men in the grill room of the Hoffman House. One of them, long, lean, like an eel, stooped down and whispered in the ear of a little fellow with a diamond horseshoe desecrating his haberdashery and pointing to another man near by. 'No, I won't,' says the man with the diamonds. 'I don't introduce nobody to nobody. Let every man play his own game, I say.' That's New York. That's the essence of the town. I introduce nobody to nobody."

"It seems odd," remarked Mr. Magee, "to hear you speak of the time you walked on pavements."

"I haven't always been on Baldpate mountain," replied the hermit. "Once I, too, paid taxes and wore a derby hat and sat in barbers' chairs. Yes, I sat in 'em in many towns, in many corners of this little round globe. But that's all over now."

The three visitors gazed at Mr. Peters with a new interest.

"New York," said Mr. Max softly, as a better man might have spoken the name of the girl he loved, "it's a great little Christmas tree. The candles are always burning, and the tinsel presents always look good to me."

The hermit's eyes strayed far away down the mountain and beyond.

"New York," said he, and his tone was as that in which Max had said the words, "a great little Christmas tree it is, with fine presents for the reaching. Sometimes at night here I see it as it was four years ago. I see the candles lit on the great white way. I hear the elevated roar and the newsboys shout and 'Diamond Jim' Brady applauding at a musical comedy's first night, New York!"

Mr. Max rose pompously and pointed a yellow finger at the hermit of Baldpate mountain.

"I got you!" he cried in triumph. "I'm wise! You want to go back."

A half hearted smile crossed the visible portion of the hermit's face.

"I guess I'm about the poorest liar in the world," he said. "I never got away with but one lie in my life and that was only for a little while. It was a masterpiece while it lasted too. But it was my only hit as a liar. Usually I fail, as I have failed now. I lied when I said I couldn't cook for you because I had to be true to my hermit's oath. That isn't the reason. I'm afraid."

"Afraid?" echoed Mr. Magee.

"Scared," said Mr. Peters, "of temptation. Your seventh son of a seventh son friend here has read my palm O. K. I want to go back. Not in the summer, when the inn blazes like Broadway every evening, and I can sit here and listen to the latest comic opera tunes come drifting up from the casino and go down and mingle with the muslin brigade any time I want and see the sympathetic look in their eyes as they buy my postals. It ain't then I want to go back. It's when fall comes and the trees on the mountain are bare and Quimby locks up the inn and there's only the wind and me on the mountain—then I get the fever. I haven't the postcard trade to think of—so I think of Ellen and New York. She's my wife. New York—it's my town."

"That's why I can't come among you to cook. It'd be leading me into temptation greater than I could stand. I'd hear your talk and like as not when you went away I'd shave off this beard and burn the manuscript of 'Woman' and go down into the marts of trade. Last night I walked the floor till 2. I can't stand such temptation."

Mr. Peters shook his head vigorously. The brown curls waved flippantly about his shoulders.

"My instincts," he replied, "are away from the crowd. I explained that to you when we first met, Mr. Magee."

"Any man," commented Mr. Max, "ought to be able to strangle his instincts for a good salary, payable in advance."

"You come here," said the hermit with annoyance, "and you bring with you the sentiments of the outside world—the world I have forsaken. Don't do it. I ask you."

"I don't get you," reflected Mr. Max. "No, pal, I don't quite grab this hermit game. It ain't human nature, I say. Way up here miles from the little brass rail and the sporting extra and other things that make life worth living. It's beyond me."

"I'm not asking your approval," replied the hermit. "All I ask is to be let alone."

"Let me speak," said Miss Norton. "Mr. Peters and I have been friends. You might say, for three years. It was three years ago my awed eyes first fell upon him, selling his postcards at the inn. He was to me then the true romance, the man to whom the world means nothing without a certain woman at his side. That is what he has meant to all the girls who came to Baldpate. He isn't going to shatter my ideal of him—he isn't going to refuse a lady in distress. You will come for just a little while, won't you, Mr. Peters?"

"I love you." In heaven's name, was he never going to stop saying it? I want you to believe."

But Peters shook his head again. "I dislike women as a sex," he said. "but I've always been gentle and easy with isolated examples of 'em. It ain't my style to turn 'em down. But from him the story of his exile and why.

"I don't need to tell you it was woman who sent him off for the equator. This one's name was Marie, I think, and she worked at a lunch counter in Kansas City. From the young man's bill of fare description of her I gathered that she had cheeks like peaches and cream, but a heart like a lunch counter doughnut, which is hard."

"She cast you off? I asked.
"She threw me down," said he."

INDIGESTION OVERCOME

Overcome by Simple Remedy.

Hurried and careless habits of eating irregular meals and foods that do not harmonize, tend to weaken in the digestive organs and result in different forms of stomach trouble.

If you are one of the unfortunate who have drifted into this condition eat simple foods only, slowly, regularly and take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic.

Mrs. H. J. Smith, Thomasville, Ga., says: "I suffered from a stomach trouble, was tired, worn out and nervous. A friend advised me to take Vinol. My stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have a perfect digestion and I wish every tired, weak woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good."

The recovery of Mrs. Smith was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cod's liver—aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol. We will return the purchase money every time Vinol fails to benefit. F. B. Johnson & Co. Druggists, Rushville, Ind.

IS OPPOSED TO PORK BARREL

John A. Lapp is Against This Method of Distributing National Funds for all Classes

SCHOOLS FOR ALL CLASSES

Is One of Problems Confronting Commission of Vocational Education—Will Meet Soon

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 2—John A. Lapp, director of the Indiana bureau of legislative information, who was recently honored by President Wilson with a position on the commission of vocational education, came out strongly today in an article written for the United Press against the "pork barrel" method of distributing funds. This statement from Lapp is the first shaft directed against the group that desires the national government to appropriate fixed amounts to the various states, leaving it to the states to determine how the money shall be expended. Mr. Lapp says he is unalterably opposed to such manner of distribution. The statement follows:

BY JOHN A. LAPP
(Written for United Press.)

Vocational education is one of our most pressing problems. We have suddenly awakened to the inadequacy of our schools to be of service to the vast army of boys and girls who go to work at an early age. We believe in universal education and if we are true in our beliefs we shall provide schools for the people suited to the needs of all and within the reach of all.

It is a national problem underlying national greatness and prosperity. The state and local communities will be able to do much, but the help of the nation is essential to effective vocational education, I rejoice, therefore, that the national government is ready to move, to the end that the local units, the state and the nation, may jointly do justice in the right education of every boy and girl in the land.

The commission must decide some fundamental questions, and foremost is the question of how national aid shall be distributed. I want to record myself as being unalterably opposed to any "pork barrel" method of distribution. It would be wrong in principle and would be destructive to the very ends we seek. Not a dollar should be given by the federal government to the state for any purpose unless means are provided to insure efficient expenditures by the state for the purpose in view. This is particularly true of national aid for vocational education, for the success of such education depends upon its being kept free from all frills, fads, academic traditions and mere theory. And national aid must be safeguarded by requiring that work for which it shall be given shall be of a standard grade and worth while.

Another problem confronting the commission is to determine what kind of vocational education shall be aided. I believe that all vocational work of the right sort should be encouraged. But the emphasis should be laid where the need is greatest. Our greatest needs today lie in agriculture, domestic science and industrial pursuit. We should emphasize these, but schools of commerce and business of a high standard should also be encouraged.

Mr. Lapp said he expected the commission to meet within a few days in Washington. It will then organize and outline the investigation to be undertaken. The commission will doubtless visit many sections of the country to learn the needs and sentiments of the people. In addition to Mr. Lapp it has the following members: United States Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, Carroll F. Page of Vermont, Representative Hughes of Georgia, Representative Fess of Ohio, Charles A. Prosser of New York, secretary of the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education; Charles H. Winslow of the Bureau of Labor at Washington.

SECRECY ATTENDS PROBERS MEETING

Announced Today Nothing Would be Done Except to Fix a Date to Hear Charges

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 2.—The utmost secrecy was maintained today when the Presbyterian committee appointed to hear the charges against the Rev. John F. Ellis of Elkhart, met at the V. M. C. A. None of the commission would discuss the charges. They said probably the only action taken would be to fix the date for the hearing which will be secret.

The Rev. Ellis is charged with making improper advances to a Bloomington woman while pastor of a fashionable church there.

2 000 MAROONED IN SUNDAY TABERNACLE

Crowd at Revival Unable to Get Home Because of Storm and Hardships Are Undergone.

TWO DIE IN THE BUILDING

(By United Press.)

Scranton, Pa., Mar. 2.—Two thousand persons were still marooned by the storm in the Billie Sunday tabernacle here at 8 a. m. today. Two were dead and several were in a serious condition.

Sunday opened a seven weeks campaign last night in an isolated tabernacle. When the meeting concluded, about two-thirds of the congregation remained rather than face the storm. Food was served from a nearby restaurant. Snow has drifted high about the building and the howling gale terrified the multitude.

SUFFRAGETTES DRAW FIRST BLOOD IN FIGHT

Defeat Motion to Lay on Table Consideration of Motion to Amend Constitution.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Mar. 2.—Suffragettes drew first blood in their fight to have the United States senate pass an amendment to the constitution giving them the ballot this afternoon when they defeated a motion by Senator Reed to lay on the table the motion of Senator Ashurst to consider the amendment. The vote was 47 to 14. Debate on the amendment then began.

Four Sons of Fame.

It is a rarity for more than one member of any family to become famous. Nature seems coy about centralizing in more than one scion of the same house enough of stamina, grit, genius and ability wherewith to cut a niche in the temple of fame. The exceptions to this rule are very few. The Pitts, the Adamses, the Van Buren and the Beechers have already been honored with this distinction, and to this roll of honor must be added the Fields. There is hardly a parallel case in history where four brothers attained such prominence as David Dudley Field, Henry M. Field, Cyrus W. Field and Stephen J. Field. These men were truly called four sons of fame, aye, and four brothers in fame.—Magazine of American History.

CONVENTION DATE TO BE SELECTED

Before Meeting This Afternoon, it Was Announced Republicans Would Likely Gather in April.

HEADQUARTERS UNSETTLED

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 2.—When the Republican state central committee went into session late this afternoon at the Claypool hotel, it was practically certain that it would fix the date in the middle of April for the state convention. The exact date, Former State Chairman Simms said, will depend upon the opportunity to obtain Tomlinson hall.

It will be a two-day convention, said Simms, "About the only thing of importance aside from this will be a decision as to the location of state headquarters."

He said the Claypool and the Sevier were bidding.

The Luckless Procrastinator.

The procrastinator is always liable to be luckless. To postpone a duty that should be discharged at once is to invite trouble for all concerned. Many a man who is well disposed toward life insurance is still deferring the purchase of a policy which would be a boon to his family in the event of his death. The would be insured is in good health today, but tomorrow he may be stricken with a disease that may bar him from the ranks of the insurable. His reason for putting off securing a policy may be that it is inconvenient at present to pay the premium. But he should consider carefully the fact that life insurance will never be cheaper for him than it is today. His yearly premium on a policy taken out now would be appreciably less than would be the premium on a policy of the same amount taken out when he is a year older. Delay, therefore, will add somewhat to the yearly burden he would have to carry. The best thing for any uninsured man to do is to insure at once.—Leslie's Weekly.

Wall Papers and Light.

"The good lighting of a room depends not only on the disposition of the lights so as to produce an adequate illumination and on the proper shielding of the lamps so as to avoid needless glare, but on the nature of the wall surface on which the light falls," said Professor Silvanus Thompson of London. "Even when the illumination that is received by the walls is ample the room may be badly lit if the walls absorb too much of that illumination instead of giving it back by diffuse reflection. Few people are aware how much light is thus wasted and thrown away."

"The deep scarlet and crimson wall papers now fashionable for dining rooms waste from 70 to 75 per cent; brown paper wastes about 85 to 88 per cent; even an ordinary yellow or buff wall paper wastes 50 to 60 per cent. On the other hand, white cartridge paper absorbs and wastes only about 20 per cent of the light, while a whitewashed wall absorbs from 30 to 40 per cent."

FIFTH WEEK OF TERM STARTED

Frank Windate Proved Residence Here and Habeas Corpus Proceedings Were Dismissed.

TRIED TO TAKE HIM TO OHIO

Grand Jury in Session Today For the First Time and Started Work of Examining Witnesses.

The fifth week of the February term of court started this morning. So far forty-eight cases have been disposed of by Judge Megee. The May term of court will not open until the first Monday in May, but Judge Megee has little hope of holding the present term until the last week in April and will probably adjourn the second week in April.

The habeas corpus proceedings against Frank Windate were finally disposed of this morning. It was shown to the court that he is a resident of Indiana and had been since September 15, 1911. The requisition for his return to Camden, Ohio, was issued by Governor Ralston. It was alleged that he owed a judgment in the Ohio court and his return was asked so that it might be collected. It was shown Judge Megee that the judgment was paid up until two months after he was a citizen of Indiana.

The habeas corpus proceedings were brought by Windate against the sheriff of Rush county. It was shown that the case against him in Ohio had been dismissed and the judgment here was given in favor of Windate. Mr. Windate will engage in the manufacture of axle grease and horse muzzles here. He is a brother-in-law of Dr. J. T. Paxton. Will M. Sparks represented Mr. Windate. John H. Kiplinger appeared for the sheriff and the state was represented by Donald Smith.

The Rush County National bank was given judgment for $308.82 on a claim against Frank A. Schrichte, administrator of the estate of J. B. Schrichte, deceased. The claim was $250 and with interest and attorney fees, the total amounted to $308.82.

The grand jury met this morning for the first time. A number of witnesses were examined today. One of the cases taken up was that of larceny against Fred Bennett. Bennett was charged in an affidavit in police court with stealing chickens from William Cook. The case was appealed to the circuit court. The main witness against Bennett was Max Goldstein. His presence this morning before the grand jury led to the belief that this was the case under consideration.

Frank Keeley is acting as bailiff for the grand jury this session. Prosecutor Smith is acting with the grand jury.

CONTRACT TO BE LET ON MARCH 10

Masonic Building Committee Today Announces Estimates Will Be Received Until Then.

DATE ORIGINALLY MARCH 4th.

The contract for the new Masonic Temple building, which will be erected in Main street on the site of the old one, which was destroyed by fire last summer, will be awarded Tuesday March 10th, at two o'clock in the afternoon. The letting will take place in the office of Dr. F. G. Harkenau, who is a member of the committee having charge of the work. The other two members of the committee are Earl H. Payne and A. L. Stewart.

It was originally intended to award the contract Wednesday, March 4th, but the committee found it could not get ready by that time. The plans were drawn by Herbert Foltz, architect of Indianapolis, and have been complete for some time.

JOE DICKMAN IS NEW CUSTODIAN

Gets Appointment From Commissioners When Crull Finds he Can Not Take Position.

USUAL CLAIMS ARE ALLOWED

The county commissioners were in session today and allowed the usual claims. Viewers were to have been appointed for the John G. Beale road, but this was delayed. The bonds of the road superintendents appointed by J. C. King were to have been approved, but none of the men appeared before the commissioners.

Joseph Dickman was appointed custodian of the court house in the place of Crull, who could not serve. Crull was first appointed by the commissioners and later found that it would be impossible for him to take the position. Mr. Dickman will take up his duties May 1. He first intends to clean the court house from the basement to the clock and in this will have an assistant. This work of cleaning up is expected to take one month. Mr. Dickman is a well known Democrat and is engaged in the upholstering business.

ASSESSORS GO TO WORK TODAY

Final Instructions From State Board Seek to do Away With Inequalities in Taxation.

MANY ARTICLES SPECIFIED

Notes and Mortgages Will be Taken at Three-Fourth Their Value—Assessing of Stock.

The assessors began their annual task today. Although the assessors held no conference with the county assessor, John F. Moses, they have been informed as to changes which are in effect this year. They all had procured their supplies today.

The state board of tax commissioners has sent out a letter for the information of assessors calling attention to the fact that last year there were numerous inequalities in personal property assessment.

This year the state board requests the assessors to pay particular attention to their work so that all property will be assessed as equitably as possible. The same plan of assessment used last year will be in vogue this year, that is, to assess all personal property at its "true cash value" and then deduct a fourth for purpose of equalization.

The state board has decreed this ship assessors to make out daily reports, showing the average valuation of various classes of property, and submit these reports to the county assessor so he may in turn send them to the state board and in this manner the state board members may see if the work is being carried on equitably throughout the state.

The state board has decreed this year the widow who has a washing machine and who washes for a living shall be taxed on her machine. Naturally, the state board has not made this statement in so bold a manner as it is made here, but it has made some changes in the schedule of personal property, to be filled out each time an assessment is made, and among other things it has listed washing machines as something that must be listed for taxation.

Wind mills are taken off the schedule and will not be assessed this year. Fan mills are a new item on the schedule, as is also baled straw. Heretofore horses were assessed for what they were worth irrespective of age, and many a horse owner sought to escape taxation because he had horses that were less than a year old. Now the sheet has blanks for horses less than one year of age and of one year or older.

Horses and mules are to be assessed at their true cash value instead of being assessed at a fixed standard. All other personal property is to be assessed at what the assessor thinks it was worth on the first of March. No special attention was given to automobiles here, but the assessors are given general instructions to assess autos for what they are worth.

Notes and mortgages will be taken for three-fourths of their face value. Goods and merchandise, merchandise held on consignment, manufactured articles on hands and manufacturing tools implements and machinery, other than engines and boilers, will be taken at the same ratio.

The schedule also states how certain articles shall be assessed. Chickens will be taken at $3 per dozen and turkeys at $6 per dozen. Bricks, stone and other building material will be assessed at $3 per thousand feet, cement at $1 per barrel, cash registers at seventy-five per cent of the full value, pianos at

DID MARCH LION SEE HIS SHADOW?

There is No Tradition Attached, But There is No One to Deny the Lion Was Here.

PROBABLY HE DEVOURED LAMB

But March, Which Forecasters Say Will be One Storm After Another, Has Bright Day Occasionally

The March lion must have seen his shadow. There is no tradition attached to that, but no one today was willing to admit that there was not a March lion abroad yesterday. There may have been a lamb for the month to ride out on, but prospects are that the lion devoured it.

Prophet Hicks said March would be a regular terror, and no one was doubting his ability to predict today. If all March be like the sample, it would be well were the day of April fools at hand, for a gale that made the one of a week ago Sunday look like a stage affair, blew all day Sunday and Sunday night with enough force to crush window panes.

And there was some deviation on the part of the mercury, too. A temperature of only ten degrees above zero was recorded yesterday morning and today at 7 a. m., the same temperature prevailed. The mercury showed little disposition to get up yesterday and the maximum temperature was eighteen degrees. This came on the heels of a day like Saturday when the mercury rose to seventy-three degrees in the sun.

But the cold spell is not for long. The weather bureau officials bring very encouraging news today. They say rising temperature is in order for tonight and that still warmer weather will be on the job tomorrow. But a discordant note is sounded. Tomorrow will be "unsettled."

According to Parson Hicks, March will be just one storm after another. A "reactionary" storm is to center, he says, on the fourth, fifth and sixth. Then one of those "regular" storms will be along about the ninth. A wicked equinoctial storm is scheduled for the 11th, 12th and 13th. And so March will pass, according to the parson.

Wind mills are taken off the schedule and will not be assessed this year. Fan mills are a new item on the schedule, as is also baled straw. Heretofore horses were assessed for what they were worth irrespective of age, and many a horse owner sought to escape taxation because he had horses that were less than a year old. Will H. Hays, New State Chairman, Announce Definite Policy For New Republican Committee.

HEADQUARTERS OPEN NOW

Indiana Leader Invites Co-operation of all Republicans in Pushing the Fight.

In a letter sent out over Indiana to Republican workers, Will H. Hays, the new chairman of the state central committee, has announced a definite purpose and outlined a policy which he expects to follow. Mr. Hays says he plans to have Republican state headquarters in Indianapolis open and the work of Republican organization and Republican publicity go forward without a break during the entire term of the new committee.

"You will realize," he continues, "the importance of this and the far-reaching effect such an undertaking will have. This is to be no spasmodic effort we are making, but a large, determined, vigorous movement, in season and out of season, for the renewed success of the Republican Party—all that no harm may come to the Republic."

"I want all the Republicans to know that for two solid years their work will be going on, and I want them to know that they will be expected to visit the headquarters, not only during the coming campaign but every time they are in Indianapolis for the next two years."

ALMOST SET RECORD.

For a short month, February was almost a record breaker in the clerk's office. During the month twenty-one marriage licenses were issued. In January only eight licenses were issued and in December the total reached twenty-eight. Last year during the month of February fourteen licenses were issued.

Brown, charged with slaying Albert Hawkins, constable of Anderson, were rapidly excused by the state today when they admitted having heard much of the case through the newspapers. It was believed, however, the jury would be completed before court adjourned.

The murder was the result of "blind tiger" trouble at Ingalls, Madison county, where the killing occurred.

SOME SOILS NOT GOOD FOR ROADS

Expert of Department of Agriculture Says They Differ Same as For Agricultural Purposes.

TIME TO WORK BIG FACTOR

Mistake to Put it off Until Late Summer When Surface is Baked Dry and Hard.

(Special to the Daily Republican)

Washington, Mar. 2.—As soils differ for agricultural purposes, so they differ for roads, says the roads expert of the Department of Agriculture. Clay or soils of fine texture unusually make poor roads, especially if they contain much vegetable matter. The coarser soils, however, which contain some sand or gravel, will often make very satisfactory roads for light traffic provided they are kept in proper repair.

If the road is composed of fine clay or soil, it will sometimes pay to resurface it with top soil from an adjacent field which has sand or gravel mixed in it. This method, called the top-soil method, is now in successful use in Virginia, North Carolina, and Georgia, and probably other states.

The earth road can best be crowned and ditched with a road machine, and not with picks and shovels, scoops, and plows. One road machine, with a suitable power and operator, will do the work of many men with picks and shovels, and do it better.

The road machine should be used when the soil is damp, so as to make the soil bake when it dries out. If it is worked dry, it takes more power to draw the machine, and, besides, dry earth will not retain moisture and quickly rut after rains. The use of clods, sods, weeds or vegetable matter in building earth roads should be avoided because they also retain moisture.

It is a great mistake to put the working of the earth off until August or September. The surface is then baked dry and hard. It is not only difficult to work but it is unsatisfactory work when done. Earth which is loose and dry will remain dusty as long as the dry weather lasts and then turn to mud as soon as the rains begin. By using the road machine in the spring of the year while the soil is soft and damp, the surface is more easily shaped and soon packs down into a dry hard crust which is less liable to become dusty in summer or muddy in winter.

Storm water should be disposed of quickly before it has time to penetrate deeply into the surface. This can be done by giving the road a crown or slope from the center to the sides. For an earth road which is 24 feet wide the center should be not less than 6 inches or more than 12 inches higher than the outer edges of the shoulders. A narrow road which is too high in the middle will become rutted almost as quickly as one which is too flat for the reason that on a narrow road all the traffic is forced to use only a narrow strip.

Shoulders are often formed on both sides of the road which prevent storm water from flowing into side ditches, retaining it in the ruts and softening the roadway. These ruts and shoulders can be entirely eliminated with the road machine or split-log drag.

Ordinary, the only ditches needed are those made with the road machine, which are wide and shallow. Deep, narrow ditches wash rapidly, especially on steep slopes, which is another good reason for decreasing the steepness of the grades. It is difficult to maintain an earth road, or any kind of road for that matter, on a steep grade.

The width of the earth road will depend on the traffic. As a rule, 25 or 30 feet from ditch to ditch is sufficient, if the road is properly crowned. A road that is narrower than 25 feet is difficult to maintain for the above-stated reason that on narrow roads the teams are more apt to track than on a wider road causing it to rut if subjected to heavy hauling.

The road should not be loosened, dug or plowed up any more than is absolutely necessary. The road should be gradually raised, not lowered; hardened, not softened.

On flat lands, where water moves slowly, grading material should be taken from the low ditch and culverts supplied where waterways occur. A shallow ditch on the upper side makes it possible to give culverts a good fall. Two or more small pipes, instead of one large one of equal capacity, may be used for culverts, especially if the large pipe necessitates much grading or raising of the roadway. At least 6 inches should be left between each pipe and earth should be stamped around them thoroughly so as to prevent a washout.

To prevent washings on steep roads, the water should be carried under the surface at frequent intervals from the upper to the lower side and from the lower side away from the road. Five 12-inch pipes in a mile of roadway is about as cheap and far better than one 24-inch pipe. The water must be disposed of before it gains force or headway, or has time to damage the road.

The maximum velocity for a 24-inch vitrified tile flowing full without head on a grade of 2 inches per hundred feet is 3.6 feet per second, or about two and one fourth miles per hour. When the grade is increased to 36 inches in 100, the velocity becomes 20' per second or about 13 1/4 miles per hour. The discharge for the 24 inch pipe in the first instance will be 5086 gallons per minute and for the steeper grade 28,260 gallons per minute. It will therefore be seen that a 24 inch pipe laid on a grade of 36 inches to the 100 will have over five times the capacity of the same size pipe laid on a grade of 1 inch to the 100'.

Under the same conditions the maximum velocity for a 12 inch tile on a grade of 1" per 100' equals 1' per second or about seven eighth miles per hour and for the same tile on a grade of 36 inches to the 100' the velocity would be 7' per second or about five and one sixth miles per hour. The discharge for the 12 inch tile in the first instance would be 442 and the steeper grade 2,659 gallons per minute or about five times as much.

By increasing the fall, we increase the capacity of the pipe, decrease the size of the pipe necessary, and therefore decrease the cost of the culverts. Furthermore, culverts laid flat will soon fill up, but if given a good fall, they will keep themselves clear.

If much fall is obtained in a culvert pipe, the spillway should be paved. Earth should be tamped under and around the pipe in layers, and should be of sufficient depth to prevent the pipe from being broken by traffic; but under no circumstances should a ridge over the culvert be allowed, for it not only endangers the life of the culvert, but is a menace to traffic.

At attempt to drain mud holes with culvert pipe will fail in most cases. The water should be drained off by means of open ditches; the soft mud thrown out and replaced with just enough good firm earth to make it level (after consolidation) with the surrounding surface. If mud holes in earth roads are filled with brush or stone, it will usually result in two mud holes, one at each end.

Repairs to roads should be made when needed, and not once a year after crops are "laid by." One day's labor, judiciously distributed throughout the year, will accomplish more and better work in the maintenance of an earth road than the same amount of labor expended in six days, especially if the six days are in August, September, or October, when the ground is hard and dry.

Because of its simplicity, its efficiency and cheapness, the split-log drag or some similar device is destined to come into more and more general use. With the drag properly built and its use well understood, the maintenance of earth and gravel roads becomes a simple and inexpensive matter. Care should be taken to make the log so light that one man can lift it with ease, as a light drag can be drawn by two medium sized horses and responds more readily to various methods of hitching and shifting positions of the operator than a heavier one.

The width of the earth road will depend on the traffic. As a rule, 25 or 30 feet from ditch to ditch is sufficient, if the road is properly crowned. A road that is narrower than 25 feet is difficult to maintain for the above-stated reason that on narrow roads the teams are more apt to track than on a wider road caus-

HAYWOOD ACCUSED OF EXAGGERATING THINGS

Philanthropists In New York Denounce I. W. W.

NEW YORK, MAR. 2.—Big Bill Haywood's organization, the I. W. W., is deliberately and systematically exaggerating the plight of the unemployed, organizing bands of professional beggars and bums for street demonstrations and viciously misrepresenting the attitude and efforts of Mayor Mitchel, Charities Commissioner Kingsbury and philanthropic individuals or organizations that are striving to assist the needy or homeless.

The I. W. W., for the sole purpose of discrediting city officials and labor officials and stirring up ill feeling, is magnifying the number of unemployed in this city and is distorting real conditions.

—Dr. Jean Dartier, speaking before the French Association For the Study of Cancer, referred to the tragic possibilities of the innocent looking mole.

"Scratch a mole," he said, "and you may catch a cancer."

Some moles were harmless and some were potentially poisonous, he continued. The only wise course was to leave well enough alone and resist the temptation to scratch the mole. Warts and wens should be borne patiently lest worse befall their possessors. Dr. Dartier told of a man who by cauterizing a harmless wart on his hand transformed it into a cancer.

Let the Past Rest.

What we shall call the opposition has been attempting to make political capital out of the fact that the officers of the present city administration are carrying out their promises which they made when they took the oath of office. And it seems that they made a very good start.

The opposition can best cover up its own misdeeds by keeping quiet. It is not well that the people of Rushville be asked to hark back to the last administration; rather they should blot the dark past from their memory. We are in a new area.

We have seen some "pointing with pride"—the nerve of it—to the last administration because an alleged "blind tiger" out in West Seventh street was "raided," yes, actually "raided." The sightless pig was conducted by a man who was unable to make a living because of ill health and was forced to the nefarious business. This was the only successful raid of the officers of the last administration, in power four years. And that case is now gently reposing undisturbed in the circuit court.

The present administration had not been in power two months when two convictions had been obtained for law violations. The people elected the present officials on the promise that they would enforce the law. A Democratic majority of four years ago turned to the present administration in the last election for the reason that the candidates declared they would keep faith with the people of Rushville.

The past is best buried. Let it rest.

A COLD SLEEPING PLACE
Went to Sleep on Well Curb and Froze to Death.

Connersville, Ind., March 2.—Believing that he was going to bed when he reached a well platform near the C. E. Lambert barn, five miles west of here, John Johns, forty-five years old, removed his clothing and went to sleep. Mr. Lambert found him "frozen to death Sunday morning. He had rolled his overcoat into a bundle for a pillow and had hung his trousers and shoes across the pump handle.

Johns had been drinking in Connersville until late Saturday night, it is said. He informed friends that he was going to walk to the Lambert farm, where he was employed. It is supposed that he imbibed freely during the trip, as a half-emptied whisky bottle was found in his coat pocket. He was a bachelor.

They Then Killed Themselves.

Hammond, Ind., March 2.—Two men shot and probably fatally wounded their wives here and then committed suicide. John Spanner shot his wife as they stood in front of a restaurant in the business district and ended his own life. Mrs. Zapadat was wounded by her husband, who committed suicide. Both women probably will die.

SUDDEN CHECK IN BENTON CASE

Expedition to Chihuahua to View

Body of Dead British Subject
Unexpectedly Recalled.

GEN. CARRANZA TAKES A HAND

Denies That Gen. Villa Has Any
Right to Treat With Secretary
Bryan Over the Controversy.

[Special to the Daily Republican.]

El Paso, Tex., March 2.—The trip of the Benton investigating committee to Chihuahua was suddenly postponed or abandoned just as the commissioners were about to take the train. Those concerned said that any explanation must come from the state department.

The commissioners, with their luggage, were at the train in Juarez when Zach Cobb, collector of customs at El Paso, informed them that they were not to go.

"It is possible that you may go later," he told them.

The commissioners are Charles A. C. Perceval, British consul at Galveston, and James Hambledon, a British subject long resident in Mexico; R. E. Thomas, lawyer of El Paso, who has made a special study of international and Mexican law; Dr. D. M. Worsham of El Paso, and Majors W. Davidson and C. J. Manley of the United States army.

It was learned that Cobb acted on instructions from Washington. At Fort Bliss General Hugh L. Scott, who appointed Davidson and Manley to assist in the examination of Benton's body, said that he had no information. None of the commissioners would talk about the delay.

Major Davidson said that the subject was one which he could not discuss. Percival declined to be seen. Refugees are deeply interested in the situation. Several refugees said they thought Carranza is attempting to use the Benton negotiations as a lever to obtain recognition of the rebel government.

CARRANZA ON HIS DIGNITY
Head of Revolution Upsets Bryan's Plan in Benton Case.

Washington, March 2.—General Carranza has thrown another monkey wrench into the machinery of the Wilson Mexican program. The rebel chieftain upset the plans of Secretary Bryan for the long deferred expedition of American and British commissioners to Chihuahua, where Villa says the body of Benton may be examined for evidence as to how the British rancher met his death.

Objections on the part of Carranza to the plan arranged with Villa, his supposed second in command, for the American expedition caused Secretary Bryan to cancel the trip just as the commissioners were assembling at the Juarez railroad station to go to Chihuahua. The state department is now retracing its steps and endeavoring to obtain Carranza's consent for the commission to depart.

Carranza's objection is that he is chief of the revolution and that arrangements for such an expedition as Mr. Bryan plans must be made through him. This objection follows up an earlier note received at the state department in which Carranza declared his dignity as "chief of the revolution" compelled him to refuse to recognize the right of the United States to act as the agent of England in looking after the interests of England in the Benton case.

To say that the administration is disgusted with the new turn in events is putting it mildly. That Carranza will answer to the latest representations of the United States by reiterating what he said in his note, that he will deal only with England and not with the United States, is expected here.

The result will be, it is said, that the expedition to get Benton's body will be subjected to delay, if not to total abandonment.

Imprisoned Bankers Sued.

Pittsburg, March 2.—The Farmers Deposit National bank of Pittsburg has entered suit against Henry Reiber and John Young for $1,105,000, embezzled from the bank in 1908. Reiber was a paying teller and Young the auditor of the institution. They are now serving penitentiary terms for the embezzlement.

George Free of Nasty Charge.

New York, March 2.—William R. George, founder of the George Junior Republic at Freeville, has been acquitted of the charge that his conduct with young girls at the institution was immoral.

Prison For Robbing Saloon.

Brookville, Ind., March 2.—Wade Ernest was found guilty by a jury and was sentenced to the state prison for one to eight years for robbing the saloon of Frank Moninger of this place.

$50 and up and sewing machines at $2 and upward. Horses, mules and cattle will be assessed at seventy-five per cent. of their value. Cattle three years and over that are fat and in good condition will be taken at five cents per pound. Stock cattle will be taken at four cents per pound and sheep at $1 per head and upward.

The schedule shows that hogs will be assessed at six cents per pound and bees at $1 per stand. Wood will be taken at 75 cents and $1 per cord, and coal at $2 per ton and upward. Other schedules are: wheat, 70 cents per bushel; corn, 40 cents per bushel; oats, 30 cents per bushel; potatoes, 50 cents per bushel; grass and clover seed, $1.50 per ton; flax and cowpeas, $1.60 per bushel; hay, $10 per ton; straw, $3 per ton; bacon, 10 cents per pound; lard, 10 cents per pound; cornhusk and maple molasses, 40 cents per gallon; lumber and building material $1 and upward; silage $5 per ton; scales, $5 and upward; ice $2 per ton.

Mother Withdrew Her Suit.

Evansville, Ind., March 2.—Mrs. Fannie Gordon, colored, has withdrawn her $9,000 suit against Allen VonRehren, son of a wealthy manufacturer, for the death of her son Thomas, one of three negroes killed here by young VonRehren, who is now serving a term for manslaughter in the Jeffersonville reformatory.

Saloon Keeper Beaten to Death.

Crown Point, Ind., March 2.—John Mitsch, proprietor of a saloon and restaurant at Cedar Lake, near here, is dead of wounds suffered when he was beaten, the police say, by men whom he had refused liquor. Three men are in the county jail here awaiting the action of the coroner.

Caught in a New Engine.

Greensburg, Ind., March 2.—Dolph Bennett, forty years old, was killed when he attempted to start a new gasoline engine in his feed mill at Adams, near here. Bennett was caught in the big wheel and thrown against the wall of the building, death following within a few minutes.

Got Hold of Wrong Bottle.

Washington, Ind., March 2.—Miss Kate Dennis, sixteen years old, is in a critical condition, having taken a dose of medicine prepared for a cow instead of from a bottle prepared for herself by a physician.

Sent Wife Beater to Jail.

Marion, Ind., March 2.—William Nonemaker, twenty-five years old, was fined $25 and sentenced to serve thirty days in jail by Mayor Batchelor on a charge of wife beating.

Schooner Wrecked on Rocks.

Providence, R. I., March 2.—The four-masted schooner Jacob S. Winslow was wrecked on Black Rocks, off the southeastern shore of Block Island early Sunday morning. The crew of nine men was safely brought ashore in the boat of the Block Island life-saving crew. The Winslow was owned in Portland and was of 910 gross tonnage.

Righted Himself in Time.

Santa Barbara, Cal., March 2.—While looping the loop here Sunday Lincoln Beachey lost control of his biplane and fell 1,600 feet, but managed to right himself 400 feet from the ground. He escaped with slight injuries. His machine crashed into a tree, but was not much injured.

Students Held Blameless.

Mt. Vernon, Ia., March 2.—Four Cornell college students were relieved by the coroner's jury here of all blame for the death of Howard Manning. A bullet fired by one of the students to frighten Manning, who had been caught peeping into the windows of the girls' dormitory, killed him.

Swept Over Precipice.

Chable, Switzerland, March 2.—Three Swiss Alpine climbers were killed Sunday while ascending the Rosa Blanche peak. The men, roped together, had attained a height of 5,000 feet when an avalanche swept them over precipice.

EXAMINATIONS TO BE CONDUCTED HERE

Tests For Fourth-Class Postmaster
in Six Rush County Towns Set
For Saturday, April 18.

GLENWOOD IS AN EXCEPTION

Examinations for the postoffices at Arlington, Falmouth, Manilla, Mays, Milroy and New Salem will be held in Rushville April 18. This is according to an executive order issued by the president requiring competitive examinations by the commission for the position of postmaster at all fourth-class offices at which the annual compensation is more than $180 or more, and at which the present incumbent was not appointed under the civil service regulations.

The Glenwood office is also a fourth-class office but is not in this list because the examination was ordered by the civil service commission on account of a vacancy. The examination for the Glenwood office will be held in this city March 28, and will be the second examination for the place as no one qualified at the first.

The civil service commission also announces that male stenographers are in great demand. Examinations are held every month in Indianapolis, and the salaries are $840 to $900.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

The senate has sent to conference the postoffice measure, carrying $211,492,007.

A thief dressed in postal uniform robbed a Paris mail van of $290,000 when the guard's back was turned.

Governor Ralston has been chosen as temporary chairman for the Indiana Democratic convention, March 19.

The accounts of John Kennedy, New York state treasurer, who killed himself, were found to be entirely correct.

The new law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the state of Tennessee is now in effect.

A fire in the business section of St. Louis resulted in the loss of one fireman's life and damage to property of almost $500,000.

Gifford Pinchot has announced his candidacy for the Progressive nomination for United States senator to succeed Boies Penrose.

In twenty-seven of the forty-five police precincts in Chicago, there are 28,231 men out of work, according to reports made by officers.

March came in like a lion most everywhere east of the Rockies, and the result was blizzards, snow, high winds, interrupted wire services and delayed trains.

The Tennessee supreme court held invalid the section of the recently enacted state liquor shipping law limiting interstate shipments to one gallon for personal or family use.

As a tribute to the work of Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama as Democratic leader in the house, President Wilson will give a dinner at the White House on March 9 for the majority leader.

Preliminary hearings on allegations that the United States Steel corporation has received illegal rebates from railroads during the last six years are being held by the Interstate commerce commission.

ALLEGED FIXING OF PRICES OF BUTTER

Elgin Board of Trade Is Under Investigation.

Chicago, March 2.—The prospective dissolution of the Elgin board of trade by government order or through voluntary action by the board of directors of the organization, was hinted when it became known that the present federal grand jury had listened to witnesses in relation to alleged fixing of butter prices.

The Elgin board of trade is the defendant in a dissolution suit brought by the government, and hearing in the case has been set for tomorrow before Judge Landis. The principal allegation is that through its quotation committee the board arbitrarily fixed the price of butter in violation of the federal law. Since the pendency of this suit the activity of the quotations committee has been eliminated.

The federal grand jury, it is understood, has directed its attention to the allegation that price fixing has still been effected through the medium of alleged wash sales or transactions fictitious in reality, but bearing the appearance of actual sales.

DEVELOPMENTS EXPECTED

Many Names Secured in Hunt For Goshen Gamblers.

Goshen, Ind., March 2.—Four detectives from a Chicago agency have spent much time here in investigating alleged wholesale gambling in poolrooms, cigar stores and private quarters. Developments are expected when the circuit court term opens. The detectives, it is said, have obtained the names of from 175 to 200 persons directly or indirectly involved. Several signed statements have been made.

"Lid" on at Bloomington.
Bloomington, Ind., March 2.—Following the local option election in Bloomington which resulted in a victory for the "drys," the officers of the city declared their intention of stamping out every "blind tiger" in the city and county and of clamping the lid down tighter than it has ever been before.

Turkish Government Sustained.
Constantinople, March 3.—In an election of parliamentary representatives for the city of Constantinople, held Sunday, all the government candidates were elected. A similar result was obtained throughout practically the entire empire.

Serious Quarrel Over Snowballs.
Jasonville, Ind., March 2.—Leotis Williams, seventeen years old, has been arrested, charged with stabbing Nick Barnes, fifteen years old, following a quarrel over a snowball game.

A bomb which it is claimed was placed in the church of St. John the Evangelist at Westminster by suffragettes, exploded, smashing two windows and wrecking a few seats in the church.

WOMAN'S BEAUTY
NO SECRET

It all lies in the care she bestows upon herself and in keeping at bay those dread ills peculiar to her sex. The flashing eye, the elastic step and the clear complexion never accompany organic troubles. The distressed expression, lassitude, headaches and mental depression are only the tell-tale symptoms. Women so troubled should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that simple remedy made from roots and herbs and re-tore their health to a normal condition.

CHAPTER XIII.

The Quest of the Hermit.
"I DON'T know how to begin," muttered the novelist, whose puppets' speeches had always been so apt. "Last night you sent me on a sort of quest for the golden fleece. I didn't know who had been fleeced or what the idea was. But I fared forth, as they say, I got it for you!"

The eyes of the girl glowed happily. She was beaming.

"I'm so glad," she said. "But why didn't you give it to me last night? It would have meant so much if you had."

"That," replied Mr. Magee, "is what I'm coming to—very reluctantly. Did you note any spirit of caution in the fellow who set forth on your quest and dropped over the balcony rail? You did not. I waited on the porch and saw Max tap the safe. I saw him and Cargan come out. I waited for them. Just as I was about to jump on them somebody—the man with the seventh key, I guess—did it for me. There was a scuffle. I joined it. I emerged with the package everybody seems so interested in."

"Yes," said the girl breathlessly. "And then—"

"I started to bring it to you," went on Magee, glancing over his shoulder at Max. "I was all aglow with romance and battle and all that sort of thing. I pictured the thrill of handing you the thing you had asked. I ran upstairs. At the head of the stairs—I saw her."

The light died in her eyes. Re-proach entered there.

"Yes," continued Magee, "your knight errant lost his nerve. He ceased to run on schedule. She, too, asked me for that package of money."

"And you gave it to her," said the girl scowfully.

"Ok no," answered Magee quickly. "Not so bad as that. I simply sat down on the steps and thought. I got cautious. I decided to wait until to-day. I did wait."

He paused. The girl strode on, looking straight ahead.

"I know," he said, "what you think. I'm a fine specimen of a man to send on a hunt like that—a weak-kneed mollycoddle who passes into a state of comat at the crucial moment. But I'm going to give you that package yet."

The girl turned her head. Mr. Magee saw that her eyes were wistfully with tears.

"You're playing with me," she said brokenly. "I might have known. And I trusted you. You're in the game with the others—and I thought you weren't. I staked my whole chance of success on you. Now you're making sport of me. You never intended to give me that money. You don't intend to now."

"On my word," cried Magee. "I do intend to give it to you—the minute we get back to the inn! I have it safe in my room."

"Give it to her," said the girl bitterly. "Why don't you give it to her?"

Oh, the perversity of women!

"It's you I want to give it to," replied Magee warmly. "I don't know what was the matter with me last night. I was a fool. You don't believe in me, I know!" Her face was cold and expressionless.

"And I wanted to believe in you—so much," she said.

"Why did you want to?" cried Magee. "Why?"

She plodded on through the snow.

"You must believe," he pleaded. "I don't know what all this is about—on my word of honor. But I want to give you that money, and I will—the minute we get back to the inn. Will you believe then? Will you?"

"I hate you," said the girl simply.

She should not have said that. As far back as he could remember such opposition had stirred Mr. Magee to wild deeds. He opened his mouth, and words flowed forth. What were the words?

"I love you! I love you! Ever since that moment in the station I have loved you! I love you!"

Faintly he heard himself saying it over and over. By the gods, he was proposing—innately, in words of one syllable, as the butcher's boy might have told his love to the second kitchen maid.

"I love you," he continued. Idiot!

Often Mr. Magee had thought of the moment when he would tell his love to a woman. It was a moment of dim lights, music perhaps in the distance, two souls caught up in the magic of the moonlit night—a pretty graceful speech from him, a sweet gracious surrender from the girl. And this—instead.

"I love you." In heaven's name, was he never going to stop saying it? "I want you to believe."

God lord! He recalled that a fellow novelist, whose love scenes were regarded as models by young people suffering the tender passion, had once confessed that he proposed to his wife on a street car and was accepted just as the conductor handed him his transfers.

The girl deliberately stopped. There was never less of sweet gracious surrender in a suffragette hurling a stone through a shopkeeper's window. She eyed Mr. Magee pityingly, and they stood until Mr. Max caught up with them.

"So that's the hermit's shack," said Max, indicating the little wooden hut at which they had arrived. "A funny place for a guy to bury himself. I should think he'd get to longing for the white lights and the table d'hôtes with red wine."

"A very unromantic speech," reproved the girl. "You should be deeply thrilled at the thought of penetrating the secrets of the hermitage. I am. Are you, Mr. Magee?"

She smiled up at Magee, and he was in that state where he thought that in the blue depths of her eyes he saw the sunny slopes of the islands of the blessed.

"I—he caught himself in time. He would not be idiot enough to babble it again. He pulled himself together.

"I'm going to make you believe in me," he said, with a touch of his old jauntness.

Mr. Max was knocking with characteristic loudness at the hermit's door.

The door of the hermit's abode opened before Mr. Max's masterful knock, and the bearded little man appeared on the threshold. He was clad in a purple dressing gown that suggested some woman had picked it. Surely no man could have fallen victim to that riot of color.

"Come in," said the hermit in tone so colorless it called added attention to the gown. "Miss, you have the chair. You'll have to be contented with that soap box davenport, gentlemen. Well?"

The girl turned her head. Mr. Magee saw that her eyes were wistfully with tears.

"You're playing with me," she said brokenly. "I might have known. And I trusted you. You're in the game with the others—and I thought you weren't. I staked my whole chance of success on you. Now you're making sport of me. You never intended to give me that money. You don't intend to now."

"On my word," cried Magee. "I do intend to give it to you—the minute we get back to the inn! I have it safe in my room."

"Give it to her," said the girl bitterly. "Why don't you give it to her?"

Oh, the perversity of women!

"It's you I want to give it to," replied Magee warmly. "I don't know what was the matter with me last night. I was a fool. You don't believe in me, I know!" Her face was cold and expressionless.

"And I wanted to believe in you—so much," she said.

"I love you." In heaven's name, was he never going to stop saying it? "I want you to believe."

God lord! He recalled that a fellow novelist, whose love scenes were regarded as models by young people

this is asking too much. I'm sorry, but I got to be true to my oath—I got to be a hermit."

"Maybe," sneered Mr. Max, "he's got good reason for being a hermit. May be there's brass buttons and blue uniforms mixed up in it."

"You come from the great world of suspicion," answered the hermit, turning reproving eyes upon him. "Your talk is natural. It goes with the life you lead. But it isn't true."

"And Mr. Max is the last who should insinuate," rebuked Mr. Magee. "Why, only last night he denounced suspicion and bemoaned the fact that there is so much of it in the world."

"Well he might," replied the hermit. "Suspicion is the keynote of modern life, especially in New York." He drew the purple dressing gown closer about his plump form. "I remember the last time I was in the big town seeing a crowd of men in the grill room of the Hoffman House. One of them, long, lean, like an eel, stooped down and whispered in the ear of a little fellow with a diamond horseshoe decimating his haberdashery and pointing to another man near by. 'No, I won't,' says the man with the diamonds. 'I don't introduce nobody to nobody. Let every man play his own game, I say. That's New York. That's the essence of the town. I introduce nobody to nobody.'

"It seems odd," remarked Mr. Max, "to hear you speak of the time you walked on pavements."

"I haven't always been on Baldpate mountain," replied the hermit. "Once I, too, paid taxes and wore a derby hat and sat in barbers' chairs. Yes, I sat in 'em in many towns, in many corners of this little round globe. But that's all over now."

The three visitors gazed at Mr. Peters with a new interest.

"New York," said Mr. Max softly, as a better man might have spoken the name of the girl he loved, "it's a great little Christmas tree. The candles are always burning, and the tinsel presents always look good to me."

The hermit's eyes strayed far away down the mountain and beyond.

"New York," said he, and his tone was that in which Max had said the words, "a great little Christmas tree tree it is, with fine presents for the reaching. Sometimes at night here I see it as it was four years ago. I see the candles lit on the great white way. I hear the elevated roar and the newsboys shout and 'Diamond Jim' Brady applauding at a musical comedy's first night, New York!"

Mr. Max rose pompously and pointed a yellow finger at the hermit of Baldpate mountain.

"I got you!" he cried in triumph.

"I'm wise! You want to go back."

A half hearted smile crossed the visible portion of the hermit's face.

"I guess I'm about the poorest live in the world," he said. "I never got away with but one lie in my life and that was only for a little while. It was a masterpiece while it lasted too. But it was my only bit as a liar. Usually I fail, as I have failed now. I lied when I said I couldn't cook for you because I had to be true to my hermit's oath. That isn't the reason. I'm afraid."

"Afraid?" echoed Mr. Magee.

"Scared," said Mr. Peters, "of temptation. Your seventh son of a seventh son friend here has read my palm O. K. I want to go back. Not in the summer, when the inn blazes like Broadway every evening, and I can sit here and listen to the latest comic opera tunes come drifting up from the casino and go down and mingle with the muslim brigade any time I want and see the sympathetic look in their eyes as they buy my postals. It ain't then I want to go back. It's when it comes and the trees on the mountain are bare and Quintly locks up the inn and there's only the wind and me on the mountain—then I get the fever. I haven't the postcard trade to think of—so I think of Ellen and New York. She's my wife. New York—it's my town."

"That's why I can't come among you to cook. It'd be leading me into temptation greater than I could stand. I'd hear your talk and like as not when you went away I'd shave off this beard and burn the manuscript of 'Woman' and go down into the marts of trade. Last night I walked the floor till 2. I can't stand such temptation."

Mr. Peters' auditors regarded him in silence. He rose and moved toward the kitchen door.

"Now you understand how it is," he said. "Perhaps

INDIGESTION OVERCOME

Overcome by Simple Remedy.

Hurried and careless habits of eating irregular meals and foods that do not harmonize, tend to weaken in the digestive organs and result in different forms of stomach trouble.

If you are one of the unfortunate who have drifted into this condition eat simple foods only, slowly, regularly and take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic.

Mrs. H. J. Smith, Thomasville, Ga., says: "I suffered from a stomach trouble, was tired, worn out and nervous. A friend advised me to take Vinol. My stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have a perfect digestion and I wish every tired, weak woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good."

The recovery of Mrs. Smith was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cod's liver—aided by the blood making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol. We will return the purchase money every time Vinol fails to benefit. F. B. Johnson & Co. Druggists, Rushville, Ind.

But if you find 'tis from the kidneys;

That serious kidney troubles may follow;

That dropsy or Bright's disease may be the fatal end,

You will be glad to know the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Rushville citizen.

Samuel A. Brown, R. R. No. 10, Rushville, Ind., says: "I had a severe attack of backache and it got worse every day. Finally, the trouble got so bad that I could hardly raise my foot above the ground. When I stooped, I thought my back would break. Someone advised me to try Dr. Dorn's Kidney Pills and I got a box. I was very much surprised at the prompt way in which they stopped the trouble. In a few days I was free from pain."

IS OPPOSED TO PORK BARREL

John A. Lapp is Against This Method of Distributing National Funds for all Classes

SCHOOLS FOR ALL CLASSES

Is One of Problems Confronting Commission of Vocational Education—Will Meet Soon

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 2—John A. Lapp, director of the Indiana bureau of legislative information, who was recently honored by President Wilson with a position on the commission of vocational education, came out strongly today in an article written for the United Press against the "pork barrel" method of distributing funds. This statement from Lapp is the first shaft directed against the group that desires the national government to appropriate fixed amounts to the various states, leaving it to the states to determine how the money shall be expended. Mr. Lapp says he is unalterably opposed to such manner of distribution. The statement follows:

BY JOHN A. LAPP
(written for United Press.)

Vocational education is one of our most pressing problems. We have suddenly awakened to the inadequacy of our schools to be of service to the vast army of boys and girls who go to work at an early age. We believe in universal education and if we are true in our beliefs we shall provide schools for the people suited to the needs of all and within the reach of all.

It is a national problem underlying national greatness and prosperity. The state and local communities will be able to do much, but the help of the nation is essential to effective vocational education, I rejoice, therefore, that the national government is ready to move, to the end that the local units, the state and the nation, may jointly do justice in the right education of every boy and girl in the land.

The commission must decide some fundamental questions, and foremost is the question of how national aid shall be distributed. I want to record myself as being unalterably opposed to any "pork barrel" method of distribution. It would be wrong in principle and would be destructive to the very ends we seek. Not a dollar should be given by the federal government to the state for any purpose unless means are provided to insure efficient expenditures by the state for the purpose in view. This is particularly true of national aid for vocational education, for the success of such education depends upon its being kept free from all frills, fads, academic traditions and mere theory.

And national aid must be safeguarded by requiring that work for which it shall be given shall be of a stand ard grade and worth while.

Another problem confronting the commission is to determine what kind of vocational education shall be aided. I believe that all vocational work of the right sort should be encouraged. But the emphasis should be laid where the need is greatest. Our greatest needs today lie in agriculture, domestic science and industrial pursuit. We should emphasize these, but schools of commerce and business of a high standard should also be encouraged.

Mr. Lapp said he expected the commission to meet within a few days in Washington. It will then organize and outline the investigation to be undertaken. The commission will doubtless visit many sections of the country to learn the needs and sentiments of the people. In addition to Mr. Lapp it has the following members: United States Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, Carroll F. Page of Vermont, Representative Hughes of Georgia, Representative Fess of Ohio, Charles A. Prosser of New York, secretary of the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education; Charles H. Winslow of the Bureau of Labor at Wash-

BUICK--1914

There are some motor cars that sell for less money than Buicks, but they cost more.

There's a model for everybody in the 1914 Buick line. Everything is left side drive and center control.

The B-36 roadster is the peppiest four cylinder car you ever drove, and it has all the style that makes the people you pass take that second look. The B-37 on the same chassis has caused a bigger sensation than any other four cylinder car brought out by any concern in the past few years.

We guarantee that the Buick six-cylinder car with five passengers will tour over ordinary roads on not to exceed one gallon of gasoline consumption to every fifteen miles traveled, and frequent actual road tests have assured us that it is possible to get as high as twenty miles per gallon.

The Pennsylvania crack train, the "Congressional Limited," was stalled in a snow drift in New Jersey and the Twentieth Century Limited of the New York Central lines was stalled some where between Buffalo and New York.

2,000 MAROONED IN SUNDAY TABERNACLE

Crowd at Revival Unable to Get Home Because of Storm and Hardships Are Undergone.

TWO DIE IN THE BUILDING

(By United Press.)

Seranton, Pa., March 2.—Two thousand persons were still marooned by the storm in the Billie Sunday tabernacle here at 8 a. m. today. Two were dead and several were in a serious condition.

Sunday opened a seven weeks campaign last night in an isolated tabernacle. When the meeting concluded, about two-thirds of the congregation remained rather than face the storm. Food was served from a nearby restaurant. Snow has drifted high about the building and the howling gale terrified the multitude.

MARSHALL IS SNOWBOUND

Vice-President Detained in New Jersey But Refuses Hospitality.

(By United Press.)

New Brunswick, N. J., Mar. 2.—Snowbound since eleven o'clock last night on a Pennsylvania train near the local station, Vice-President Marshall this afternoon gracefully declined the hospitality of Walter Scott, who offered the vice-president the use of his home. He said he wished to remain on the train to reach Washington as soon as possible.

WARM WIND DOES WORK.

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Mar. 2.—A warm south wind today drove the low temperature away and the mercury climbed high.

SUFFRAGETTES DRAW FIRST BLOOD IN FIGHT

Defeat Motion to Lay on Table Consideration of Motion to Amend Constitution.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Mar. 2.—Suffragettes drew first blood in their fight to have the United States senate pass an amendment to the constitution giving them the ballot this afternoon when they defeated a motion by Senator Reed to lay on the table the motion of Senator Ashurst to consider the amendment. The vote was 47 to 14. Debate on the amendment then began.

Four Sons of Fame.

It is a rarity for more than one member of any family to become famous. Nature seems coy about centralizing in more than one scion of the same house enough of stamina, grit, genius and ability wherewith to ent a niche in the temple of fame. The exceptions to this rule are very few. The Pitts, the Adamses, the Van Buren and the Beeches have already been honored with this distinction, and to this roll of honor must be added the Fields. There is hardly a parallel case in history where four brothers attained such prominence as David Dudley Field, Henry M. Field, Cyrus W. Field and Stephen J. Field. These men were truly called four sons of fame, aye, and four brothers in fame.—Magazine of American History.

CONVENTION DATE TO BE SELECTED

Before Meeting This Afternoon, it Was Announced Republicans Would Likely Gather in April.

HEADQUARTERS UNSETTLED

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 2.—When the Republican state central committee went into session late this afternoon at the Claypool hotel, it was practically certain that it would fix the date in the middle of April for the state convention. The exact date, Former State Chariman Simms said, will depend upon the opportunity to obtain Tomlinson hall.

It will be a two-day convention, said Simms, "About the only thing of importance aside from this will be a decision as to the location of state headquarters."

He said the Clavissel and the Sevier were bidding.

The Luckless Procrastinator.

The procrastinator is always liable to be luckless. To postpone a duty that should be discharged at once is to invite trouble for all concerned. Many a man who is well disposed toward life insurance is still deferring the purchase of a policy which would be a boon to his family in the event of his death. The would be insured is in good health today, but tomorrow he may be stricken with a disease that may bar him from the ranks of the insurable. His reason for putting off securing a policy may be that it is inconvenient at present to pay the premium. But he should consider carefully the fact that life insurance will never be cheaper for him than it is today. His yearly premium on a policy taken out now would be appreciably less than would be the premium on a policy of the same amount taken out when he is a year older. Delay, therefore, will add somewhat to the yearly burden he would have to carry. The best thing for any uninsured man to do is to insure at once.—Leslie's Weekly.

Wall Papers and Light.

"The good lighting of a room depends not only on the disposition of the lights so as to produce an adequate illumination and on the proper shielding of the lamps so as to avoid needless glare, but on the nature of the wall surface on which the light falls," said Professor Silvans Thompson of London. "Even when the illumination that is received by the walls is ample the room may be badly lit if the walls absorb too much of that illumination instead of giving it back by diffuse reflection. Few people are aware how much light is thus wasted and thrown away."

"The deep scarlet and crimson wall papers now fashionable for dining rooms waste from 70 to 75 per cent; brown paper wastes about 55 to 88 per cent; even an ordinary yellow or buff wall paper wastes 50 to 60 per cent. On the other hand, white cartridge paper absorbs and wastes only about 20 per cent of the light, while a whitewashed wall absorbs from 30 to 40 per cent."
